Lewandowski and Levack's new exhibition Ghost Fields, at Project Space in Hackney Wick, evokes a sense of longing; for the possibility of change, for personal and universal growth, for an evolving future that takes us beyond the city. Exploring ancient landscapes through new photography, poetry and soundscapes, created on journeys in Somerset, the Isle of Mull and the Beara Peninsula, the works are united by the artists longstanding relationship with Glastonbury Festival, where they creatively direct a diverse team of artists, architects, and creatives to realise the artistic vision, production, and build of the Interstage area each year.

Solo exhibitions and commissions include French Riviera (2023), Glastonbury Festival, Somerset, UK (2022–23), Triskel Arts Centre, Cork, Ireland (2022), French Riviera, London (2019), Evelyn Yard, London (2015), and Grey Area, Paris (2010). Their work has been featured in exhibitions, festivals, and film screenings in the UK and internationally. They established the band Das Hund in 2010, releasing the album For Freedom (2018), and founded the gallery French Riviera (2011), in Bethnal Green in 2011. www.levacklewandowski.com
